ARE YOU REALLY INTERESTED IN PARIS.

When you settle down to live in a place, you become a partner in the public enterprise of maintaining community life. This partnership exists, even among people who pay no taxes. If they buy supplies or go to board, they help pay taxes indirectly. Hence they are interested in this proposition of community maintenance.

But some people do not seem to realize that they have any share in this community of interest. Men who have charge of public parks say that hoodlums will come in and deliberately break down seats, trample on plants, and do other damage. If they find a strip of ground carelessly planted with grass seed, in the hope of making a beautiful lawn, they will maliciously or carelessly walk across it.

They seem to think it is funny to destroy something that other people have worked to create, even if in doing so they destroy something of their own. It is much as if a partner in a business walked into the office and began to take money out of the safe and throw it into the street.

A lot of people who know too much to commit any malicious acts, will yet offend in similar ways through carelessness. They will cut corners on grass plots, until the next squares of turf look seedy and ragged. They carelessly throw away waste into the streets of which they are part owner, until the town looks slatternly.

Let us all here in Paris get this idea well in mind. We are all tacitly united in a purpose in which everyone has an equal interest, the maintenance and development of a high class town. Every one must make hold and help keep it orderly and beautiful. Every one ought to do something positive to help improve it. But if you can't set out a tree or plant shrubs, at least refrain from any damage to its property no matter how slight.

AUSTRALIAN MINISTRY SAY "PROHIBITION ANTI-CHRISTIAN"

Resolutions favoring prohibition were rejected by the Anglican synod in session at Adelaide, South Australia. In the debate one of the speakers, the Rev. Mr. Walker, said: "Prohibition is anti-Christian and the idea of American cranks."

THE FRONT PAGE VS. THE FRONT PORCH

(Courier-Journal)

The Front Page versus the Front Porch! That expresses more clearly than windy argument the fundamental difference between Governor Cox and Senator Harding; in their personalities, in their campaigning methods, in their conception of a Chief Executive's relations to leadership.

The Democratic nominee makes the front page of the newspapers because he has constituted himself the pace-setter of the campaign. Despite established precedents which puts the burden of proof on the "outs" and permits the "ins" to satisfy themselves with rebuttals, the Democratic nominee has cudgelled his way into the van and is leading a merry chase to the gentleman from Marion.

While the latter fans himself on his front porch, Governor Cox is received enthusiastically in New York. New York likes him. And while Cox is giving the details of the "get-the-money-boys" drive, Senator Harding is scratching his head and wondering how in the world he is going to extricate himself from his League of Nations stand. The Republican Prophet is waiting for the mountain to come to him, while the up-standing Democratic nominee has delivered his message to Garcia and is coming back with full steam ahead.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

Surely not for long will attendance in Kentucky be thought of as compulsory attendance. The Kentuckian has only to realize that his child's welfare, happiness and usefulness are at stake, then he will make every effort to have that child in school every day. Parents will undergo hardships in these efforts because they realize along with other things the fact that in giving their child an education they are giving him about the only thing that cannot be taken away from him.

Most parents realize the loss of character and certain disgrace that is going to come to their child if he does not have an education. Every parent understands that it is the trained mind and hands that do the most effective and profitable work. Taxes are paid every year for the education of the children. These taxes are wasted if the children do not go to school.

To our shame it must be said, but last year there was an average attendance of 37 per cent. in Kentucky. Taxes were paid for a 100 per cent. attendance. Teachers were paid to teach all the children. Not only parents, but all tax-payers have a right to object to such a wastefulness of money. But there needs only to be an awakening to the great loss the children are suffering, then there will be the nearly 100 per cent. attendance.

The wrongs of our people are continually getting mixed up with our rights.

The Ford car can well be called the "peoples car," because there are more than 3,000,000 of them in daily operation. That is about four to one of the nearest follower in the motor car industry. This would not be so if the Ford car had not for sixteen years proven its superiority in service, in durability, and in the low cost for operation and maintenance; this would not be so if the Ford car was not so easy to understand, so simple in construction that anybody and everybody can safely drive it. Let us have your order for one now to avoid delay in delivery.
